

HORSHAM Artists

Press Release

On the trail of Horsham Artists

Venue No.4, 11 Causeway, Horsham, RH12 1HE

The Horsham Artists' Art Trail will once again see artists and makers across the Horsham District open their doors to the public this June.

In Horsham's picturesque Causeway, Cherry Parsons is the hosting artist of Venue No.4. Her collection comprises of elegant ballerinas, familiar local landscapes, large, textured seascapes and her infamous seagulls. In addition to originals and prints, she also sells cards, umbrellas, gift wrap and mugs.

Deborah Crago is a returning artist to the Causeway, with a stunning collection of floral illustrations in both watercolour pencil and graphite as well as pressed flower textile pieces. In addition to her original work, Deborah sells print, cards and gift items.

Carol Haine is new to the Horsham Artist Art Trail. Working as an accomplished goldsmith and jewellery designer, Carol specialises in bespoke pieces, commissions and remodelling of old jewellery.

Dominic Simpson is a local artist with a flair for design. His predominantly oil-based work is striking and colourful, using varied techniques and subject matters, his work will add impact to any setting.

Angela Jenkinson of Fired Creations is a glass artist and jeweller. With an impressive body of work ranging from earrings to wall art, her fused dichroic glass pieces are completely unique.

Following the trail will lead you to discover 36 artists and makers in 13 different locations across the Horsham District. These range from artists' homes, studios and retail spaces in central Horsham, to venues further afield, in Mannings Heath and Henfield to the south and Coolham and Storrington to the west.

Visitors can expect to find something unique and distinctive in every venue. The range of creativity on show is hugely diverse, from original paintings, prints and textiles, to jewellery, sculpture, upcycled crafts and more.

A colourful brochure and map to help visitors plan their visits on the Horsham Artists Art Trail, will be distributed to venues across the district as well as being available on line where you can view and easily download a copy at: www.horshamartists.org.

The Horsham Artists Art Trail runs over two weekends, the 10th/11th and 17th/18th June. Entry is 10am – 5pm and free of charge.
